This beautiful 5 bedroom villa enjoys a tranquil position on the southeastern side of Mykonos in the area of Lia Beach, well known for its laid-back setting and good dining options.

The property's private pool is most certainly the main standout feature of the outdoor area. Its particular design and lagoon style structure are sure to amaze guests throughout the extensive 270-degree water surface with a marvellous infinity edge. Poolside relaxation options include elegant sun beds, a covered area with large comfortable cushions and a unique sunken gazebo. The formal outdoor dining pergola completes the property's outdoor space.

The great presence of stone and rocks outdoors can be found indoors as well, where it contrasts harmoniously with the contemporary all-white structure and décor. A prime example is the live rock, reminiscent of the island's natural environment, used as a backdrop to the formal indoor dining area. This area connects directly with the villa's living room which is generous in space with its high ceilings and airy atmosphere while also including a grand piano. The room grants easy access to the outdoor dining area as well through its French doors opening directly onto the front pool terrace. The kitchen is situated in a discrete yet convenient position being a bit hidden in some ways but still spilling straight into the formal dining area.

The villa's bedrooms are divided amongst the three levels of the property that are actually composed of two floors and one intermediate mezzanine level entirely dedicated to the master bedroom. The spacious master bedroom displays gigantic exposed rocks and polished cement surrounding the queen-sized bed. Behind the stonework hides an impressive open en-suite shower. From the bedroom and the bedroom's private terrace, the sea view outlook is spectacular. Two more bedrooms are located on the mezzanine level of the house, each with en-suite bathrooms, one with an open bathtub. A further two guest bedrooms are located on the lower ground floor, each with en-suite bathrooms. All bedrooms allow access to a terrace while offering extensive sea views both indoors and outdoors and benefiting of direct access to the pool terrace.
