Set in beautifully remote countryside, within two hectares of lush gardens, Arabic water fountains, orchards and terraces, sits this stunning 16th century manor house, complete with its own consecrated chapel. Walking through paved terracing with stunning country views and stepping in through the beautiful traditional glass and wooden Mallorquin doors the splendour of this pristinely maintained manor house is all at once evident.

The property is split in two halves, with four of the eight bedrooms located on the left, and the other four on the right. To the left of the front entrance hall is a sitting room with a large open fireplace, flat screen television and a small glassed in courtyard with huge plants surrounding a stone fountain. In the summer this courtyard can be opened allowing for fresh air and through this bright and cosy room the main dining room can be found. A beautifully grand space, traditionally tiled floors and chalk blue ceiling beams with glass doors running the entire length of the room. At the far end of this room there is a small consecrated and beautifully preserved chapel, with space enough to seat 20. Passing the dining room is the kitchen which is well equipped and has a breakfast table that seats 16.

To the right of the entrance hall, there is a ground floor en suite bedroom which opens onto the front terrace of this property. Stairs up to a mezzanine on which a grand piano sits and a lounging area with open fireplace once used to hold classical piano concerts. On this first level there is a library/music room with beautiful garden and sea views, original wooden flooring and ceiling beams. On the first floor of this side of the house are four en suite bedrooms, all with a little lounge area, open fireplace, garden or sea views. There are 3 further en suite bedrooms in the other first floor wing.

The garden is really lovely, well established with plenty of areas to explore. It is well fenced and protected from the road. There are Arabic water features, a Moorish well holding drinkable water, a rose garden and many pine, olive, cypress, and citrus trees as well as the 130 square metre swimming pool. There are over 350m² of covered terraces holding seating and dining areas, plenty of grounds to explore and the house itself holds an incredible amount of history which is immediately felt once inside.
